ABOUT

In my current role as a Graphic Designer & Data Visualization Specialist at EMIR, I am entrusted with upholding the organization's design standards and spearheading our data visualization initiatives. My contributions significantly support the editorial team by enriching reports, data publications, social media, and web content with Prezi and PowerPoint presentations, CEO sentiment surveys, infographics, and digital content. I am also responsible for crafting and tailoring materials for the commercial team that resonate with our brand identity.

My role extends to designing templates and solutions for internal communications, transforming complex data into compelling creative assets that underscore the objectives of our projects. I manage and guide freelance designers when required, ensuring brand consistency and strategic alignment in all creative outputs. Collaborating closely with EMIR's Head of Editorial & Content, as well as our content producer and social media manager, I am a pivotal figure in the storytelling of our brand through visual design.

IGNITION

Multimedia Designer

Start Date
November 2019

Ended Oct. 2022

Roles & Responsibilities

As a Multimedia Designer at Ignition Group, I took on the comprehensive role of developing creative assets for various online media channels, including Google AdWords, Facebook, and Instagram. My responsibilities extended to the front-end development sector, where I crafted user-centric e-commerce stores and affiliate websites, ensuring optimal functionality and engaging user experiences. The scope of my duties also involved brand identity development, adhering to brand consistency across different platforms, and managing a robust image library to support our marketing efforts. This role demanded a fusion of creativity, front-end development expertise, and strategic insight into digital marketing to elevate the company's standing in the technology and media sectors within Africa.

2018

Deloitte.

Graphic Design | Brand Consultant

Start Date
February 2018

Ended Dec. 2018

Roles & Responsibilities

In my tenure at Deloitte, a leading entity within the "Big Four" of professional services networks, my responsibilities were multifaceted and critical to the firm's branding and communication strategies. As a custodian of Deloitte's brand standards, I meticulously aligned various documents to our stringent brand guidelines, ensuring uniformity and professionalism across all corporate materials. I innovated in the creation of persuasive pitches and decks, harnessing data visualization techniques to articulate complex information succinctly. My role was crucial in the design and production of an array of corporate publications, including booklets, reports, covers, and placemats. Collaborating closely with diverse business units, I played a key role in the final brand application, vetting every document to ensure it resonated with Deloitte's esteemed brand essence before its release. This role demanded a blend of creative design and strategic brand management, embodying the Deloitte ethos in every piece of communication.

2016

Hirt & Carter

Graphic Designer

Start Date
February 2015

Ended July. 2016

Roles & Responsibilities

At Hirt & Carter, my experience was deeply rooted in leveraging our unique mix of creative flair, strategic partnerships, and state-of-the-art printing capabilities. My duties were centered around the creation of in-store marketing materials for a portfolio of distinguished blue-chip brands within the Fast-Moving Consumer Goods (FMCG) sector. The scope of my work covered an impressive roster including global giants like Coca-Cola and Duracell, confectionery experts Lindt, retail leaders Spar and Boxer, and the launch campaigns for high-profile products such as Uncharted 4 and Belvita. This role required a keen understanding of brand positioning, the ability to operate within the parameters of corporate identity guidelines, and the skill to deliver compelling visual solutions that drive consumer engagement and in-store sales performance.

2014

Mitras Ammenities

Senior Designer | Production Planning

Start Date
June 2019

Ended Jan. 2015

Roles & Responsibilities

At Mitras Amenities, I took on the dual role of Graphic Designer and Production Planner, working with a company renowned for its high-quality hotel toiletries since its establishment in 2001. My responsibilities encompassed the design of product labels and amenities that required a keen eye for brand alignment and aesthetic appeal. I created compelling marketing materials, decks, and presentations that effectively communicated the brand's value proposition. Additionally, I was in charge of operating and maintaining the Roland printing machinery, which demanded technical proficiency and an attention to detail to ensure the highest standards of product presentation. This role blended creative design with production oversight, ensuring that all products not only met the exceptional quality Mitras Amenities was known for but also captured the unique branding requirements of our diverse hotel clientele.

2009

Nocturnal

Graphic Designer

Start Date
January 2009

Ended January. 2011

Roles & Responsibilities

During my college internship, I embarked on a foundational journey in design, starting with the basics and progressively delving into concept design and visual solution strategies. This experience was rich in learning opportunities, from mastering picture editing and edging techniques to exploring the nuances of typography and illustration. I had the privilege of applying these newfound skills on projects for real-life brands, including Coeee and Chubees, which significantly enhanced my understanding of brand aesthetics and client-focused design solutions. This immersive internship not only honed my technical abilities but also cultivated a deeper appreciation for the creative process behind impactful design.
